The Robosson Log House was constructed in the late 18th century when Elijah Robosson, Jr. (1758-1842) moved to Allegany County. Robosson, Jr. settled on land which had been purchased by his father, Col. Elijah Robosson (1731-1797), a resident of Anne Arundel County. The tract of land was known as "Flintstone" and on it Elijah built a two story log cabin. In 1797, the year of his death, Col. Elijah Robosson sold his son the "Flintstone" tract containing 803 1/2 acres and a second tract known as "Content" which contained 240 acres. A year later Robosson, Jr. moved to Allegany County with his bride, Anne Talbot Robosson. The couple had eight children and eventually returned to Anne Arundel County. However, three sons, John, Francis, and Thomas, remained in Allegany County. The original farm remained in the hands of Thomas Robosson and his wife Emeline Perry. Eventually the property was inherited by his son, Dr. Thomas Perry Robosson. Today, almost one hundred years later, the property is still inhabited by the Robosson family.

Architecturally, the building is a two story log mansion with two brick outside end chimneys. Two additions about the main block on its northern side. One is the original smoke house and the second is the summer kitchen (also with an outside end chimney) which provided slave quarters on its second floor. The slave quarters as well as numerous outbuildings are two indications of the substantial wealth of the Robosson family.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Robosson Log House is located on the north side of Route 40, Flintstone, Allegany County.

The Robosson House is a two story, three bay wide rectangular log structure that has been covered with asbestos shingles. Two rectangular additions abut the main block on the north side. The house is supported by a low stone foundation. The roof is gabled with visible rafter ends, and is covered with tin. Windows are a combination of six over six and two over two lights with pegged double hung wooden sash frames. The main entrance is paneled with a transom and is covered by a replaced three bay end porch. The porch has a hipped roof and is supported by square columns. A second shed roof porch is located on the north side at the inside gable ends.

In addition to the farm house, numerous outbuildings are also located on the property. In general, these are constructed of board and batten with stone foundations.
